

International Relationships – The Rules of Ukrainian Dating

Ukrainian dating rules

Like dating in general, Ukrainian dating has its rules about what kind of behaviour is acceptable and what is not. Even though the general guidelines are very similar to both, when it comes to dating Ukrainian women online, the rules are a little bit different. It doesn't matter if you're new to online dating or just need some dating advice, below are a couple of tips to help you avoid typical mistakes men make in dating.

- Don't be a liar

Nothing will make a Ukrainian woman lose interest faster than finding out that her cyber partner is a liar. Be honest about important things like your age, job and income, political and religious views, etc. when filling out your profile. Naturally, you shouldn't post photos of yourself that were taken a decade ago and under no circumstances should you use someone else's picture on your profile. If everything goes well between you two, you will meet your beautiful international woman in person sooner or later and you don't want to be exposed as a fraudster.

- Don't say things which could offend your online partner

As you've found a gorgeous woman who has caught your attention, the last thing you want to do is scare her away by saying inappropriate things. Some guys make the mistake of starting discussions about sex or asking for sexy photographs too early in the relationship. Men who want to rush things are a turnoff for ladies from Ukraine, so be careful with what you say. It's perfectly okay to tell a lady you find her attractive, but it's not alright to make comments about her body in an inappropriate way.

- Fill out your full profile

Your profile will be the first thing a woman sees, so you have to make it an intriguing one. Don't upload a profile with only minimal information. It's proven that guys who put in time and effort to fill out their details in full get better responses than guys who only write a couple of sentences. Add information about your interests and likes, what kind of women you want to meet, etc. The more info you share, the bigger your chances of meeting that perfect Ukrainian woman!

- Don't be too eager

Let's imagine you've found your perfect match on one of the many Ukrainian dating websites. She looks absolutely beautiful, seems interesting and smart, so you send her an introductory letter. After a couple of days, she still hasn't answered so you send a new email, and again, and again. When you've gotten no response after a couple of weeks, you grow impatient and maybe even send her a letter telling her not to ever contact you. Even though some ladies like a man who is persistent, others may find it scary or just irritating. Keep in mind that some women may not have daily access to the internet, so just be patient. A delayed answer doesn't mean she's not interested in you.

- Don't be too demanding

If you've met the woman of your dreams, you don't want to scare her off by being overly aggressive. While most women like men who show enthusiasm, asking for a personal date too soon might make your partner feel uncomfortable. Don't rush it! Give her time to get to know her better as women need it to fall in love with someone.
